[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN

Telegraph Dividend

NEW YORK Dec 8—The executive committee of the Western Union Telegraph company met to-day and [illegible] payment of an extra dividend of [illegible] per cent in addition to the regular dividend of [illegible] per cent. The company will have a surplus of $1,100,000 after paying dividends.

Good bye Uncle Sammy

NEW YORK Dec 8—The Herald's Washington special says Tilden is reported to be preparing a paper announcing his withdrawal from the political field for 1880 in favor of Speaker Randall

Jones, of Nevada

Senator Jones of Nevada left for home [illegible] night. Upon returning he will make a great speech on finances Jones in a conversation yesterday, bitterly denounced both the president and secretary of the treasury for the views they expressed regarding the finances and has announced the purpose to give them a severe handling, when he addresses the senate.

Thieving Contractors.

NEW YORK, Dec 8—The Times' Washington special says that contractors in Arizona have been detected in defrauding the Indians and the government as well by means of false weights and inferior supplies The discovery has created consternation and the most determined efforts are making to prevent exposure. Some of the guilty contractors and their friends are now in Washington to have matters quietly arranged but finding that the Indian department was determined to punish the imposition practiced upon the government, they have threatened to secure the removal of Commissioner Hayt and report that ex Gov McCormick who appears to be deeply interested in the Arizona group has already spoken with the president in reference to making a change in the commissionership of Indian affairs

Death of an M C

WASHINGTON Dec 8—Congressman Lay, of Missouri, died in this city this morning He has been in feeble health for some time The immediate cause of his death was paralysis.

Nomination.

WASHINGTON, Dec 8—The president has nominated John Hay of Ohio as assistant secretary of state

Committee Reports.

WASHINGTON, Dec 8—The senate judiciary committee recommends Secretary McCrary's confirmation.

The house committee on postoffices and post roads this morning instructed the chairman to report the resolution introduced by Representative Valentine calling on the postmaster general for information why mails are not carried on new railroad lines constructed in the west during summer, and why the service on routes now established is not increased in accordance with the necessity of the people.

A communication was received from the third clerk of the postoffice department with a draft of a bill containing the views of the department on the lottery question

The Morris bill of last session providing for the establishment by the postmaster general of such offices as he sees proper, and for the return of letters which cannot be delivered to the writers thereof, was ordered reported with an amendment making the establishment of such offices mandatory upon the postmaster general.

The sub committee of the house committee on agriculture this morning took up the bill relating to the agricultural department A somewhat animated discussion developed a wide difference upon some of its features The majority of the committee favored something to enlarge the scope of the department. The proposition to make the commissioner a cabinet officer is not likely to be decided or the bill reported till after the holidays.

The sub-committee of the house committee on manufactures discussed without action the resolution introduced last Tuesday by Representative McCool, which proposes an amendment to the constitution of the United States giving congress the power to [illegible] protect and regulate the exclusive right to adopt and use trade marks

Yellow Fever Report.

The commission appointed by the president to proceed to Cuba for the purpose of collecting information in relation to yellow fever has submitted a preliminary report to the national board of health The report says the most general result is that yellow fever [illegible] prevails in every place in Cuba from which reports were received, provided such places are of any size or commercial importance and contain any considerable number of unacclimated persons to furnish fuel for widespread poison In this particular [illegible] authorities as well as intelligent [illegible] of Cuba have for most part misled [illegible]

THE RENO COURT MARTIAL

Reno in his own Defense —He Makes a Lengthy Speech, etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

[illegible], D. T., Dec 8 —In the Reno court martial to day Major Reno delivered a lengthy argument in his defense in which he claimed that he did not go beyond bounds of [illegible] conduct, that in striking Lieut [illegible], he did so after being driven beyond the limits of patience by repeated taunts [illegible], that in looking through a window of the Sturgis House he was actuated by [illegible] motives and his note of apology should be sufficient for an unintentional offense. He says that all witnesses agree that he was in the possession of his mental faculties on all occasions brought into question and was under the influence of liquor at all he was regarded as a good humored drunk and [illegible] king money on the floor and breaking window lights was done in frolic He [illegible] that it has been his misfortune to have obtained widespread notoriety through the press of the country and that the greater [illegible] attention is called to his acts than [illegible] of other officers and that a conviction [illegible] charges against him would be a sacrifice [illegible] commission which is a reward for over [illegible] years of hard and faithful labor to his country He quotes the 83d article of articles of war, which says The intent is to [illegible] the character and honor of the army [illegible] excluding disreputable characters and not to inflict punishment for youthful follies or [illegible] deviations from rectitude The court then adjourned sine die

CHIEF OURAY'S DEFIANT SPEECH

Particulars of the Parley on Saturday An Exciting Scene—The Commission Determined The Indians to be Delivered Up Etc Etc

SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN

DENVER Col Dec 8 Special to the Tribune from Los Pinos dated [illegible] represent that Saturday was [illegible] held [illegible] at the [illegible] [illegible] meeting After Jack had [illegible] form the commission [illegible] Indians had been concerned in the White river massacre [illegible] Indians retired to Ouray's house to [illegible] what course to pursue [illegible] have engaged Ouray's [illegible] A man was sent from the agency to Ouray [illegible] red from the house on the inside that the Indians were greatly excited and what he saw of them were bedecked in feathers and war paint and he was so frightened that he turned back and did not deliver the hay Saturday at 12 o'clock the Utes came into the agency and took seats inside of the agency building Jack Colorow and twelve other White river Utes and of course Ouray, having been among the Indians, were present When the Indians and commissioners had taken seats General Hatch addressed the Indians setting forth the full demands of the commission its right to make the demands and the patience exercised with the Utes To day he said is your last chance We will wait no longer We want your final answer and we want no evasions The list of Utes charged by the agency women in taking part in the massacre was then read and the question put by Hatch Will you surrender the men whose names appear on this paper to be tried and the guilty punished and the innocent acquitted The question was put twice and after consultation evasive answers were returned both times When the question was repeated the third time Ouray replied without consulting the other Utes

How do we know that these Indians you name were at White river at the time of the massacre or even if they were, then we do not know they were concerned in it These women mentioned the names which came first to their lips whether they knew them to be these or not We cannot depend on what they say

That is what we depend on said Hatch

Adams then addressed the Indians making a speech of over an hour's duration saying, among other things that the commissioners did not want to punish Corlowa Jack and others that took part in Thornburgh's fight but the cowardly dogs who participated in the massacre of unarmed men at the agency Closing by saying, we want those Utes and we will have them

The Indians held a consultation in a low tone of voice among themselves but did not seem inclined to reply at all when Hatch again rose and asked if the guilty Indians were to be surrendered, saying he had made the last appeal. No one moved or spoke for a few moments, when Colorow lighted a big pipe—the pipe of peace Each Indian present drew his knife and laid it on his knees The question of peace or war being the one pending Colorow passed the pipe to the next man without smoking, and it went round When the circle was finished he jumped to his feet, straightened up to his full height pulled his belt around until his knife sheath was in front, pulled his knife out, threw it with force on the floor quivering and ringing Instantly every Indian present dropped his hand to his belt and laid his hand on his knife or pistol The whites did the same and the two parties stood fronting and defying each other for some moments each waiting for the other to make a forward move There were but six white men while there were 25 Indians in the room and 15 soldiers in an adjoining room Finally Ouray spoke

We cannot deliver up to you these Indians unless they are tried in Washington They must not be tried in Colorado The Colorado people are all our enemies, and to give them up to be tried in this state would be to surrender them to be hanged We will bring these twelve men here for you to see and then whom you decide guilty shall be taken to Washington and the president shall determine their guilt or innocence. Douglass will have to go we know He was in the White river troubles and you shall decide who else Upon this condition and no other will we surrender the guilty Indians

This being delivered with great arrogance and boldness Ouray said that it would take about a week to bring the men in

Hatch told him he would accept the proposition so far as bringing the massacre men in but as far as taking them to Washington he had to telegraph for permission to Schurz

Colorow and Jack were immediately dispatched to bring in the twelve named, including Douglass and Persune saying they would be back in five days After they had taken their departure Ouray again spoke reiterating his statement that the Utes could not get justice in Colorado and could only get it in Washington You there (meaning Hatch Adams and legal adviser Valois) are all my enemies, I am one against three You are all Colorado or New Mexico men and a French devil I have not one friend among you You will not give me justice and that is why I want to go to Washington, where I can have at least one friend

These Ugly Utes.

LOS PINOS AGENCY Dec 6 4 30 P M, via LAKE CITY Col, Dec 8—The answer to the demand of the commissioner has just been delivered by Ouray and is as follows We will deliver for trial Douglass and those Indians engaged the massacre of Meeker and his employes provided they are tried in Washington The people of Colorado are not friendly and a fair trial here or in New Mexico is not to be expected Runners have just been started by order of Ouray to bring those Indians called for by the commission

A Lively Meeting

NEW YORK Dec 8—A Herald's special cable gives some of the details of the meeting at Castlebar Martin McDonnell presided His speech was mainly political He asked the crowd in the name of [illegible] O'Connor Don again represent them in parliament In the [illegible] observer [illegible] not help noticing how much stress was laid on this point by all the speakers giving the impression that the meeting was aimed as much at [illegible] as at landlordism Dinne McDonnell's speech John Neally a [illegible] Balla who was on the platform cried out to the crowd [illegible] these reporters away shut them up The response was a yell followed [illegible] by a rush For a moment it seemed as if the reporters and [illegible] would be swept off the platform but the latter [illegible] their guns to their lips and presented them toward the people who fell back All was in confusion for several moments [illegible] Parnell made an effective [illegible] that [illegible] the [illegible] got for the past year or two did not come [illegible] in America

Introductory Lecture to the Course of 1879-80 Delivered at the Medical College Portland December 8 1879

BY [illegible] HAINE

[illegible] devoting [illegible] the [illegible] and [illegible] I shall [illegible] forces and their correlation as the causes of all [illegible] If we analyse our ideas of [illegible] we shall find [illegible] compelled by logic [illegible] we must be satisfied [illegible] secondary causes we cannot always or even usually see into the modes of action between them and their inevitable consequences for instance in relation to the physical forces we cannot see how the sun causes heat and light save by referring them to modes of motion which merely leads us one step deeper into the mire In we cannot see or even think how heat and light and all the forces are modes of motion only and convertible into each other We see by observation they appear to be so and there we must stop

A disposition to inquire into the causes of things is usually among the [illegible] experienced on their contemplation, and I here call your attention to very fine passage in the Æneid of Virgil in reference to this a passage that also goes to show that our views as to the origin and correlation of the forces are not so absolutely modern as they are commonly supposed In the account of the descent of the hero of the poem into the world of departed spirits he is said to meet there the shade of his father Anchises of whom he asks the great question concerning the cause of everything we see To this the shadowy essence replies

> Principio cœlum ac terras camposque liquentes
> Lucentemque globum lunæ Titaniaque astra
> Spiritus intus alit totamque infusa per artus
> Mens agitat molem et magno se corpore miscet
> Inde hominum pecudumque genus vitæque volantum
> Et quæ marmoreo fert monstra sub æquore pontus
> Igneus est ollis vigor et cœlestis origo seminibus

As some of you may understand this and some may not I offer you a weak translation of my own

> The circling sky, the earth and liquid main
> The moon and many stars a shining train
> Through all these limbs diffused one guardian soul
> The body moves and mingles with the whole
> Thence spring mankind and beasts and things of air
> And monsters that the glassy waters bear
> Heat is the active force by which things move
> The source of which is in the heavens above

Here we have a tolerably clear allusion to what is now called the new revelation in regard to heat life and all the forces as modes of motion The idea laid dormant during the long sleep of the dark ages On the revival of learning one of the first to awaken it was Thomas Hobbs of Malmsbury, England who wrote in the time of the Stuarts In his biography, published by Nattali & Bond it is stated that Hobbs being in conversation with some eminent men of [illegible] the question came up—what is sense? and none of them being able to give a satisfactory answer he was led to ponder on the matter and the result of his meditation was this position That if all things were at rest they would part with all their actual qualities hence it followed in his mind that all the principles of natural science including the senses of all animated things and all bodily actions depend on the varieties of motion To these rather than to any inherent occult qualities he referred all the phenomena of physics This doctrine if adopted in its full extent would have disposed of the material theory of heat electricity and the other physical manifestations two hundred years ago but the time had not yet come. We here see one of those brilliant generalizations that sometimes emanate from genius and sagacity to cast a gleam of prophetic light on things that only become fully explained in the far off future Hobbs then anticipated the current idea of to-day that the actual qualities of bodies that is to say all those manifestations by which they become cognizable to our senses depend on some of the many varieties or modes of motion In regard to the senses of all animated things and all bodily affections depending on the varieties of motion he says in his remarks on Sense and Animal Motion, one of his essays on Physics or the Phenomena of Nature — Sense therefore in the sentient (sensorium) can be nothing else but motion in some of the internal parts of the sentient, and the parts to be moved are parts of the organs of sense For the parts of the body by which we perceive anything are those we commonly call the organs of sense And so we find what is the subject of our sense namely that in which are the phantasms And partly also we have discovered the nature of sense namely that it is some internal motion of the sentient "

Another century of human progress brings us to the time of the American Revolution and of Benjamin Thompson of Rumford, Massachusetts To him more than to any other man belongs the distinguished honor of tracing out the connection between heat and motion a discovery that marks an epoch in science as important as that of the discovery of the principles of gravitation by Newton It would be interesting did time permit to describe here the career of this remarkable man his uncalled for persecution by his countrymen that drove him into foreign lands the brilliant career that there awaited him and the high honors that he reaped a story more like a romance than a reality as it is but my limits forbid These things as well as his discoveries are better known abroad than they are at home a proof of what was said of old— a prophet is not without honor save in his own country On this occasion I must confine myself to a brief allusion to the most important of his discoveries [illegible] philosopher remarks If we desire to select that theme that lies at the foundation of all modern philosophy we must necessarily take the grand the wonderful discovery [illegible] Rumford that heat is merely a mode of motion No one in a hundred of our citizens knows that Count Rumford and the poor persecuted [illegible] of [illegible] of that name in New England are the same What he found [illegible] in regard to heat is now without a dissenting voice admitted to be true of the other forces as well as light electricity magnetism and the rest they are now looked upon as modes of motion and as having a definite and quantitative relation to that [illegible] each other [illegible] [illegible] is that [illegible] are properly the [illegible]

[illegible]

[illegible] of the [illegible] of a syringe containing

[illegible] of water [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible] the forms the appearances or [illegible] [illegible] motion [illegible] matter [illegible] supposed [illegible] nothing but [illegible] according [illegible] quantity [illegible] what we call caloric [illegible] therefore [illegible] considered [illegible] among the ultimate particles of a body the vibration of the molecules being sometimes derived from arrested motion of the mass and sometimes being communicated by similar motion of contiguous matter Let us investigate this matter a little further Suppose a cannon ball to be projected with great velocity against a stone wall and thus brought to a sudden stop is its motion then destroyed? Not at all the motion of the mass is only converted into a vibratory motion among the atoms An oscillatory motion to a certain extent is supposed to be continually going on among the elementary particles of any substance in the ratio of its heat Thus in the instance referred to is increased the body grows warm and expands in proportion to the elevation of its temperature If it reaches the melting point the atoms fly so far apart that they lose their cohesion and a still higher degree of heat may drive them so far asunder that they will assume the gaseous state and occupy many hundred times the volume they had when in the solid form Thus heat is derived from motion and again resolved into motion which is communicated by radiation or contact to all surrounding things till it is apparently lost in the immensity of the universe destroyed it cannot be it only disappears to our senses from the wideness of its distribution An analogous state of things happens in regard to all the other forces but which we cannot now explain for want of time This fact is recognized in the term conservation as applied to the forces as is their mutual convertibility by the term correlation

We will now endeavor to see how light, heat, actinism, [illegible] sensation intelligence and all the physical forces that may for aught we know be infinite in their variety come to us from the sun, which may be truly called our parent luminary This great monarch of our system is now demonstrated by that most delicate and wonderful of all scientific instruments, the spectroscope, to be an enormous globe of intensely heated matter that pours out its rays of light and life so uninterruptedly that we are aware of no variation from the first dawn of organic life on this world to the present day a period doubtless, of millions of ages The light vibrations are supposed to be borne on the undulations of the luminiferous ether through space and to surrounding worlds, with the inconceivable rapidity of almost twenty millions of miles in a minute These rays bear with them the seeds, as Virgil phrases it, of life and motion and impinging upon a vegetable organism they are absorbed and their active force becomes manifested as chemical affinity by means of which the plant seizes its appropriate nourishment and a portion of the solar rays for a time disappear The disappearance or absorption of sun force is further shown by the fact that in photographic landscapes living foliage is less perfectly depicted than inanimate matter The trees look dark and flat from a want of light and shade that the active rays would give were they perfectly reflected The act is the sun light does its work in the leaf and cannot also do it in the camera In the vegetable growths of wood and coal the sunlight that contributed to their formation may be imprisoned for untold ages but it is a law of nature that all the forces that are absorbed in building up a compound by chemical affinity shall be again let loose on its chemical decomposition The emancipated force may be in one form or another but whatever mode it may assume we may take it for granted that it will be a mode of motion Thus liberated heat may be compelled to assume the form of motion in the ratio of 772 pounds through the space of a foot for every degree of heat of the scale of Fahrenheit and man, like the genii of an eastern tale, is able to subject the powers of the elements of fire air, earth and water to his orders as long as he uses aright the talisman that commands their services, though a slight mistake in the formality of their subjugation may induce them to turn upon him and rend him limb from limb, of which we almost every day read terrible examples in accounts of explosions of steam gunpowder and nitroglycerine as well as accidents caused by unskillful chemical manipulation What is said of the imprisoned sun forces in wood and coal as applied to machinery may furnish a clue to the comprehension of the more complicated forms of force that are manifested in the living organism An animal is a machine of a more perfect structure than can be fabricated by the hand of man As Rumford sagaciously remarked the power of an animal is due to its food as the power of a steam engine is due to its fuel Both animals and steam engines are arrangements of parts adapted to put the forces that are developed by the decomposition of the food or the fuel in to a working state But the artificial means are less perfect than the natural ones because a far larger part of the heat developed by artificial combination is lost than is by the slow combustion of the food in animals—carried off by the connection of surrounding bodies or radiated into space

We are now in a position to take a rational view of the action of the forces that by their normal operations cause the manifestations of life and health and by their irregular actions or absence cause those of sickness or death By the solar force the plant lays hold of those things within its reach that are capable of contributing to the life and growth of animals for as the psalmist of old very truly said all flesh is grass By the performance of [illegible] various animal functions the materials supplied by vegetable growth are decomposed and the forces derived from the sun are again let loose On this [illegible] of [illegible] all the phenomena of animal life as evidently depend as the [illegible] of a clock [illegible] [illegible] clock stops when deprived of its motive [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] plant the [illegible] [illegible] of the animal [illegible]

TUESDAY MORNING DEC 9 [illegible]

THE VEXED QUESTION

Congressman Belford's views as given in dispatches of Saturday upon the question of affairs with regard to the Indians [illegible] will doubtless be approbated by a large class of people in the west who know [illegible] the characteristics and [illegible] of [illegible] between the Indians and whites when the two races are [illegible] in proximity. That there is no doubt he spoke the sentiments of nearly all men in the west and especially of those [illegible] the frontier settlements. The very fact that [illegible] Indian is allowed 1000 acres of valuable lands each while a white man and his family has more [illegible] and [illegible] white child can have none [illegible] shows the absurdity of the government system of dealing with the Indians. The gift of the government to them is one of the causes of the troubles which [illegible] arise between them and the whites. The possession of so much land makes the Indians independent because they feel that they have hunting grounds sufficiently large to enable them to live without work. They are lazy because they have never had need to be industrious and until the government limits their reservations to a compass that will give each family of the tribe no more land than is necessary for a white family with the exception of some help perhaps to start with, stop all further donations and after they have had time to begin to make their own living let the government leave them where it leaves white people either to work or to starve. This compulsion would be binding on the present generation of the red men but the material [illegible] might be worked out of their posterity. If they could once be brought to a full sense of the necessity of labor one of the greatest existing barriers to their civilization would be removed but while they can have nothing to do out of the hunting and fishing seasons their idleness is a constant source of mischief. They naturally seek to drive away the tedium of unoccupied time by gathering in their miserable villages and while apart they would be harmless together the evil designs are formed and carried out. The Indian commissioner thinks that the institution of matrimony the establishment of courts and some other of the characteristics of civilized life would tend largely to bring the Indians to a state of permanent peaceableness there is very much more reason to hope for a subjection of their warlike propensities by breaking up in some measure their tribal relations and segregating them, if possible, into smaller communities or families. Some of them would doubtless become like some white men are, worthless vagabonds but if the doctrine of the survival of the fittest be true they would after a while begin to show an improvement. Under the present system of the government in dealing with them, the country has had experience enough to convince everybody that peace is impossible. Mr Belford's relation of the situation of affairs in Colorado is applicable in general terms to four fifths of the tribes in the United States outside of Indian territory

The statement of the chief of the bureau of statistics of the exports of domestic provisions from all the important ports in the United States indicates a general increase in the quantities and in the values of these exports for October 1879 over October 1878 Of bacon and hams, over 46,000,000 pounds, worth nearly $3 000,000 were exported last October from eight of these cities together while last year about 34 700,000 pounds were exported worth about $2 600 000 Beef, fresh and salted shows an increase to more than 9 000 000 pounds, against 6 000,000 last year Pork shows a similar increase, although lard has fallen off nearly 2,700 000 pounds Cheese too, shows a decline from 9,800 000 to about 9,000 000 pounds, while butter has gone from 1 800,000 pounds in October, 1878 to over 6 000,000 last month, with an increase of income from $271,000 to $967,000. These are among the signs of the times, the decrease in a few things being overbalanced by the larger increase in many things About $1,100 000 was the total increase of income on the above articles and tallow for last month over the same month last year

The death of Mrs Catharine Hogarth Dickens in London, on the 22d of November, revives some of the stories of her separation from the great novelist. Thirty-seven years ago Mr Dickens with his young wife made his first visit to this country and in his accounts of his movements through the United States she is always tenderly mentioned. They lived happily together until 1858 when the whisper of rumor was followed by a separation Incompatibility was announced as the cause The story of a love between Mr Dickens and his sister in-law was started but was stoutly denied by Mr. Dickens as a libel on the name of the estimable lady and that of his own The novelist afterward published an account of the affair, which was simply that they could not live happily together Undoubtedly it was a case of the man of genius who could not find companionship with a plain honest, simple Englishwoman And she could not appreciate a great mind such as his was. The sods that cover the remains of this unfortunate lady let us hope, cover the last of a sad story

Blaine is said to have gained a good deal of strength in New York recently, and a good many of his friends in that state are sanguine of being able to carry the delegation to the national convention of the republicans in his favor next year Conkling's followers claim that he will dictate the choice of the New York delegation, and that no nomination can be made which does not meet with the approbation of the New York senator His influence with the party in his state is undeniably great, and if he choose to exercise it it may defeat or nominate next year There is, however now no special known reasons why he should not be as willing to endorse Blaine as any other of the men now prominently spoken of in connection with the position unless it is General Grant. He would probably prefer Blaine to Sherman on account of the latter's connection with Hayes' administration, for which Conkling as is well known, has no admiration

Chief Ouray's declaration before the Ute peace commission that secret emissaries from the Mormons have been conferring with the White River Utes and that he can prove the complicity of the Mormons with the inception of the outbreak has greatly excited the Gentile population of Utah and Colorado The Salt Lake Tribune claims that a prima facie case has been made out against the Mormons [illegible] until the charge is substantiated it would be a gross violation of justice to condemn the parties implicated It is [illegible] that the matter will indeed be sifted to the bottom and if the Mormon emissaries [illegible] the act should be [illegible] and they absolved from blame [illegible] have performed the part which [illegible] alleges against them [illegible] of the treasonable charge [illegible] their living at peace with the [illegible] kind

The Mercury over anxious to find fault with Judge Bellinger of this district, attempts to review his action in the case against John A Carr recently tried in Portland, claiming that a verdict of acquittal was directed by the court when the state should have been nonsuited so that the proceedings would not have been a bar to an[illegible] trial [illegible] speaking, there can be no order of nonsuit in a criminal case under [illegible] when the state fails to prove [illegible] the defendant is [illegible] The Mercury [illegible] misunderstands the case [illegible] not know the law [illegible]

[illegible] conference of [illegible] in Washington [illegible] as could be found It is expected that he [illegible] of the [illegible] electors and the forthcoming convention is necessary in order to test the question whether there is vitality enough yet left to pay for trying to resuscitate the strangled [illegible] fact

Another evidence of [illegible] to become a great [illegible] is given in the man[illegible] by a number of prominent business men [illegible] contemplating the more permanent establishment of a merchants exchange [illegible] has by his perseverance demonstrated that Portland will support an institution of the kind, and while it is universally conceded that he has managed it well the new management insures a perfection of arrangements which will make the exchange beneficial in the highest degree to the trade and commerce of the city and state

The republicans in most of the [illegible] will probably make no [illegible] to the change in the laws of the several states so as to shift the authority to choose presidential electors from the people directly to the legislatures of the respective states It would make the choice of a republican for president next year almost a moral certainty In that case the balance of the states would be again at Indiana and the solid south

A census was made last year of the number of foreigners resident in China This places the total number of foreign firms doing business there at 351 and the total foreign population at 4814 Of these England stands at the head with 220 firms and 1953 persons The number of American firms is set down at 35, and the total number of Americans resident in China at 420

One James Clark has a long letter in the Salem Mercury in which he arraigns the authorities in very bitter terms for the manner in which the Oregon penitentiary is conducted He enumerates a great many grievances of which the convicts have reason to complain and if the prison is such a place as he describes it is a mighty good place to keep out of"

AFFECTIONS OF THE LIVER Bilious Disorders Sick Headache etc are thoroughly cured by Dr Jayne's Sanative Pills Acting as a general laxative, they remove all irritating and fecal matter from the bowels gradually change the vitiated secretions of the stomach and liver and restore these organs to a healthy condition. Sold by Hodge Davis & Co, Portland, Oregon

TUESDAY MORNING [illegible] 1879

CITY.

SILVER BRICK—A silver brick weighing 2355 ounces, the first product from the Monumental Mining Co's new mill, reached the office in this city last night and it made the eyes of the stockholders feel good to look at. It contains $2 6 05 in silver and is ... fine. Mr W B Penn ... who superintended the manufacture of the machinery for the mill and its putting up at the mine and Mr E B Vellam superintendent of the fur[nace] came down with the brick. They express the utmost confidence in the mine and say they have no doubt it will turn out a brick of the value of ... every ... and every day high ... The ... holders are entirely satisfied with ... ment.

THE COON LESS—For a long time the Columbia Engine Company No ... has had a pet coon. Of late it seems that his coonship has been making predatory raids on a flock of geese which are kept in a back yard adjoining the engine house. Last night some one got after the coon with a pistol and firing two shots into his hide made mince of the earth. The reports created great excitement and attracted a large crowd. Officer Day rushed into the back yard followed by several boys. A light was brought and on searching the premises the coon was found as dead as the late J Cæsar but the murderer had fled and no traces could be discovered.

BARROOM FIGHT—Last night about half past eight o'clock Dr Brenan and Henry Prang became involved in a quarrel in the ...'s saloon, corner of First and Washington streets. Hot words led to blows and after pawing each other for a minute or two the belligerents were separated. Prang then went behind the bar and picking up a glass threw it at Dr Brenan but missed him. The men again clinched and both went to the floor. In the struggle Prang kicked Brenan, striking him below the eye with his foot, cutting a severe gash. The parties were then separated by bystanders.

SUDDEN DEATH—H Hoffarber who kept a ... jewelry establishment at No 11½ First street, died suddenly Sunday evening either from heart disease or apoplexy. He came here from California about two months ago and until within a fortnight had been sober and industrious. It is said two weeks ago he was closed out by San Francisco creditors and began a debauch which he kept up until he died. Hoffarber leaves a wife and three children in destitute circumstances. They have no relatives in this country and are worthy of charity at the hands of the societies and private individuals.

LECTURE AND INSTALLATION—E W Ryan, ... grand lecturer of the I O G T lectured at the hall of Brooklyn Lodge No 115 I O G T, East Portland, on Saturday evening December 6th. At the close of the lecture a meeting of the lodge was held and eight new members admitted, and Mr Ryan installed the following officers: M Creswell W C T, ... McEwan, W V T, G Marquam ... J E Coburn, F S, L M Royer Treas ... McGrew, C, Jos Smith, G, R Smith ..., C K Smith, R H S, C Marquam, L H S.

MEETING OF INCORPORATORS—Last evening the incorporators of the Merchants Exchange Association, of Portland, held a meeting at the office of Ladd & Tilton. No other business was transacted than the opening of subscription books. There will be a meeting of the incorporators this afternoon at two o'clock.

THE POULTRY SHOW—The managers of the poultry and pet stock exhibition were busily engaged yesterday in arranging the exhibits ... in the well lighted inviting room No ... Front street. There were numerous arrivals of fine poultry in the afternoon and everything will be in order for visitors to-day.

THE ELIZA MCNEIL—The ship Eliza McNeil is expected to arrive here some time to day. The iron for the west side road will be taken out without delay and transported to the front. The good people of Corvallis will likely have their promised railroad ride New Year's day if not on Christmas.

EXTRA MAIL TO ALBANY—An evening mail has been ordered to Albany. This makes an evening mail to Oregon City Salem and Albany from this city and from those points to Portland in the morning.

A GOOD PLACE TO DINE—The Congregational Ladies Society at their fair and festival keep open house for their friends. Dinner served from 1 30 to 3 30. All kinds of ... and fancy articles. Admission free.

FROM ...

The following communication was read and placed on file:

U S ENGINEER OFFICE,
PORTLAND, OR Nov 19 1879.

... Secretary Board of Trade Portland ... I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your ... favor of the 8th relative to the improvement of the Lower Columbia river.

The board of engineers for the Pacific Coast in their report dated April 3 1877 stated that the sum necessary to give what they deemed at that date ... depth of water for sea going vessels ... the W... river and over St Helens bar in the Columbia river was $... Since that date there have been available for the ... $75 000 appropriated in 1878 and 1879 the sum of $31 ... About $6000 of this sum have been expended in dredging and surveys. The residue will be applied in the Willamette river. It is probable that the next appropriation will be applied in an attempt to make a permanent improvement at St Helens bar for which the estimate is $5 ...

No engineer would dare say that at a certain time in the future a large river like the Columbia would have a permanent regimen. It must undergo daily changes: the old bars are gradually moving down stream under the impetus of the annual freshets and new ones are forming at places where there is now deep water.

After the present plans are executed it is probable that $ 0 000 annually will keep open the river for the largest vessels until some marked change at a particular point is developed requiring dams or dikes to contract the channel and increase the natural scour. My opinion is that a perfect and uninterrupted navigation of the Columbia will require annual appropriations to be made to over come the ... newly occurring obstructions. Very respectfully your obedient servant,

G L GILLESPIE,
Major of Engineers Bvt. Lt Col U S A

A COMPLAINT

A long communication was read from Capt James Hughes master of the ship A thurstone. The writer made strong complaints against the general manner in which the Columbia river bar pilotage was conducted. The communication was read and referred to committee on commerce.

AN OFFER ACCEPTED

The following proposition was read and on motion accepted:

PORTLAND Dec 8 1879.

William Reid Secretary Board of Trade SIR—Referring to our late conversation in regard to the board of trade rooms I beg to place in writing what I stated to you verbally viz that the merchants exchange, which I represent, will be pleased to tender the board of trade for its regular meetings and also special meetings the use of our rooms including gas fuel stove, chairs attendance and other necessary conveniences for the moderate sum of ten dollars per month and also allow your board's name on our doors. Respectfully,
J R FARISH

APPOINTED

It was moved and carried that the secretary of the board suggest to the governor of this state the desirability of appointing Wm. McCann a commissioner of immigration to the state of Oregon at Liverpool.

It was moved and carried that Wm McCann of Liverpool be appointed the honorary correspondent of this board of trade at Liverpool and that the president issue his appointment under the seal of the board attested by the secretary.

REPAIRING GOVERNMENT BUILDING.

Mr Newbury moved that a committee of one namely, Mr Jackson, be appointed to obtain from the commander of the post at Vancouver the necessary information to enable the board to consider the desirability of asking the government to repair the government building at Vancouver and report to the next meeting the result. The motion prevailed.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions were read and adopted:

WHEREAS The great foreign and domestic shipping trade now carried on the Columbia river and the large shipments of grain to Europe from eastern and western Oregon and from eastern Washington territory, (which are increasing at the rate of 30 to 40 per cent per year) all find their way to the sea down said river with an aggregate foreign export of twelve million dollars per year and

WHEREAS The Pacific coast board of engineers and the engineer department at Washington have in their reports to congress each year unitedly urged the importance of this great highway of commerce being first permanently improved and which can now be done from the mouth of the Willamette river to Astoria at a cost not exceeding $200 000 with a depth of water sufficient to enable the larger class of grain vessels to navigate the same and thence proceed direct with their cargoes to Europe and

WHEREAS It is the interest and the unanimous desire of the people of eastern and western Oregon eastern and western Washington and Idaho territories as well as the city of Portland that congress should grant sufficient appropriations to improve the lower Columbia river to Astoria within two years therefore

Resolved That this board respectfully petitions congress to appropriate this session a sum not less than $200 000 for the improvements referred to believing that any smaller sum expended in one year would be inadequate for the satisfactory completion of the work referred to. Further that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to our senators and representatives W... Ilenker and Brents and that they be urged to press our claims on the committees of commerce in both houses.

WHEREAS Complaints have been and are daily being made to the board by various of its members to the effect that the Columbia River & Walla Walla Railroad Company does not forward wheat for shipment to Portland and Astoria in the order in which said wheat is received at Walla Walla and makes discriminations in favor of some shippers to the serious pecuniary loss and prejudice of other shippers therefore

Resolved That the board without admitting the truth of the statements instructs and hereby authorizes its secretary to investigate these complaints and report the result thereof to the next meeting of the board.

On motion the president appointed the following gentlemen to serve on the committee: C P Church, J M Ten Bosch, W S Newbury and Col J McCraken.

On motion the board adjourned.

A CARD FROM JOS DAY SPECIAL OFFICER

PORTLAND Dec 8 1879

Referring to the affidavit of George A Moody published in the Standard of Sunday last pending the investigation which I have demanded of the board of police commissioners I wish here to state the following facts all of which are susceptible of proof either by the records of the several courts or by the officers of this county and city.

1 A few days ago I was appointed a special police officer on the beat that was formerly the beat of Mr F M Arnold who was removed by the commissioners some time before I was appointed but he has continued to walk the same beat calling himself a private watchman.

2 I am the person who arrested George A Moody on the charges of robbing the store of William Beck & Son and the office of Woodward & Connell.

3 The said Georg A Moody is an ex convict having but lately been discharged from the penitentiary at Salem where he was sent from this county for larceny.

4 On Friday last Mr Arnold was at the county jail and had a long conversation with the said Geo A Moody and afterwards called the county clerk who swore Moody to an affidavit and Every statement made in that affidavit is false—entirely false.

5 And F M Arnold paid the Daily Standard for the publication of the said affidavit.

I have only to add that if the statement of an ex convict and convicted felon made against an officer who has arrested him and is the principal witness against him when he shall be tried will be received as against an officer, then arresting criminals will be indeed a dangerous business to the officers and I have lived in this city these many years in vain. An Important Geological Fact

Geology has shown us that nature accomplishes her greatest convulsions in the earth's surface conformation slowly. Every year the river makes its channel deeper, the glacier wears a deeper gorge in the Alpine rock and the ocean tide deposits the sand it has crumbled from the rocks upon which it breaks. We note the earthquake and the devastating hurricane but these changes are so gradual man seldom observes them until the channel has become overhanging cliffs or a mountain has disappeared before the icy stream or the ocean has given us a Florida. Thus it is in disease. Our attention is attracted by acute diseases as fevers cholera, etc, while chronic diseases (often the most dangerous in result) being slow in their development are seldom noticed until they have made an almost ineffaceable impression upon the system. Persons believing themselves comparatively healthful are ofttimes the victims of these diseases and only become aware of their presence when relief is almost impossible. Diseases of the liver and stomach are the commonest of these chronic affections. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Pleasant Purgative Pellets are never failing remedies for those diseases. They produce a healthful secretion of the bile prevent indigestion by regulating the bowels, and impart a vigorous tone to the whole system.

THE DEATH-RATE OF

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming the average of life being lessened every year without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year especially a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it, and often find too late that a fever or lung trouble has set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken a cure would have resulted and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the Throat and Lungs Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

WM SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES.

Mr Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox government revenue officer at Cincinnati Ohio says in his report that after ten years of close investigation he can safely say that very few if any pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—that all are ... before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited were it necessary to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties addressed to Wm Scheffler or Geo H Beach St Helena, Napa county, Cal, will receive prompt attention.

For coated tongue bad breath sick headache or any disturbance arising from dyspepsia or torpid liver it is without a peer. Its action on disease is entirely different from any medicine ever introduced, quieting pains almost instantly. The hue and cry raised against it by patent medicine men who have foreseen in its advent the destruction of their nefarious business and the thousands of unsolicited testimonials flowing in from all parts of the New World is a sure indication of its great merits. PROF. HARVEY'S ADDRESS.

Have not yet been wholly sung nor said
For his thought, that never stops,
Follows the water drops
Down to the graves of the dead
Down through chasms and gulfs profound
To the dreary fountain head
Of lakes and rivers underground
And he sees them, when the rain is done,
In the bridge of colors seven,
Mounting up one more to heaven,
Opposite the setting sun
Thus the seer with vision clear,
Sees forms appear and disappear,
In a perpetual round of strange,
Mysterious change,
From birth to death, from death to birth,
From earth to heaven, from heaven to earth,
Till glimpses more sublime,
Of things unseen before,
Unto his wondering eyes reveal
The universe, as an immeasurable wheel
Turning, turning, turning for evermore
In the rapid and rushing river of Time."

In tracing out the source of life and sensation you will see at once that I refer them to the common source of all the motions and changes that take place on the surface of the earth Celestis origio seminibus. This may seem at first glance to be opposed to all sound theological views, but it is not so. On the contrary I consider it to be perfectly consistent with the most enlightened theology. It makes the light of the universe to be the light of the intellect as well, and shows the light of the physical world to be one with that of the spiritual; differing only as to its mode. It was customary with the ancients, as it still is with the moderns, to look upon man as a microcosm, or little world in himself; an epitome, or brief abstract of the microcosm, the boundless outside universe; and I appropriate the idea to the present occasion as the best illustration I can select. The material parts of the microcosm, or little world of man, are under the seeming control of his intellect and will, though of course subordinated to that of the universe of which he is a part. Of both we may say with the ancients "Mens agitat molem, et magno se corpore miscet."

Through all the limbs diffused one guardian soul,
The body moves and mingles with the whole.

This view of mind as one of the modes of action of the physical forces has the strongest analogies in its support, and I think has nothing in it to alarm the rational theologian. Rational theology has nothing to fear from science. They are united twins, and can only stand securely and steadily by each other's aid. Let us reason calmly together on the subject. I say this view of mind has analogy of the plainest kind for its support. All psychologists are now agreed that the brain is the organ of the mind. In all their conditions they are closely sympathetic; when the one is diseased the other is so too; an inflamed brain always manifests itself in a corresponding disturbance of the mind and passions; concussion and compression of the brain occasion a suspension of sense and thought, and when the organ is no longer nourished, its functions must perforce cease, and all intellectual manifestations disappear. These things are so commonplace and obvious in their nature that it may appear superfluous to allude to them; still, the idea of an independent mind is clung to by some with a tenacity that may appear to others to be surprising. If we weigh the analogies I have spoken of, we can hardly fail to see to which side the scale inclines. The brain is built up and fed, as the rest of the bodily organs are, by chemical compounds, that are the outgrowth of the solar forces. By the action of the nervous system in sensation and thought, brain tissue is broken down, thrown off and immediately renewed by the nutrient matter conveyed to it by the blood. By this physiological decomposition of organic tissue, the forces that were employed in its construction must be again let loose, if not in one form, in another, and the particular form of force evolved in this instance is in its nature sensorial. The forces used in the construction of the organ are, as far as we can see, only sunlight and heat; the forces given out on its decomposition and renewal are sensation and intelligence. As all force is eternal and uncreated, and cannot give out what it does not possess, have we not reason to infer that this apparent sun force is also an intellectual force, and therefore capable, among its many modes of action, of producing the phenomena of mind, just as the sun force used in the growth of fuel is let loose, on combustion, in the form of motion, by the invention of the appropriate means; so that it is not going too far to assume that the forces of nature have in themselves, among their possible ways of acting, the power of evolving thought, as well as other sensorial and physical manifestations. We thus can see and demonstrate that the power that pervades the universe is an intelligent one. In the words of St. Paul: "In this we live and move and have our being, as certain also of our own poets have said." For instance the Latin poet Virgil, as I have already shown to you. This was the animus mundi of the ancients; the "likeness" in which man is made; and in the action of the forces we see the icon of the Demiurgus.

The identification of the controlling power of the universe with light is not a new idea; neither is it, I think, unscriptural; for we find it expressed in many places, especially in the gospel of St. John, and in the apocalypse. In the latter, speaking of the city of the kingdom of heaven, we find—"And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it; for the glory of God did lighten it." Though how, we must admit to be inconceivable. The analogy between ordinary, or physical light, the understanding of man, and the controlling wisdom of the universe, are so obvious, that the word light is quite commonly used to signify all three.

Health results from the due and normal action of the physical forces, under the beneficent laws of the Eternal Power, and is the usual condition of the body when the organs are undepraved by improper treatment, and are duly acted on by their appropriate nutriment, exercise and surroundings. On the other hand pain and sickness result from the undue and abnormal action of the same forces, under the same laws, when the organs are depraved by erroneous treatment, or unduly acted on by outside influences. Man is the most sophisticated of nature's denizens; and his preeminence is undoubtedly a preeminence also of disease. This latter may be partly the price he has to pay for the former; but is most likely more a penalty for having left the paths of nature and simplicity, where alone health and happiness are to be securely found, and adopted in their stead the sophistications of luxury and art that frequently lead to care, crime, suffering and death. How easily supplied are all the claims that nature urges in the frame of man! But what fatal poisons they prepare—noxious at once to body and soul—who seek the haunts where dissipation, vice and folly hold their frequent courts! Thrice happy they who confine their wants within due bounds and never venture on excess!

John Stuart Mill, Von Buchner and some other noted writers look upon the infliction of pain and sickness as an impeachment of the goodness of the Eternal Power, which I think a narrow way of looking at the question. In the vast diversity of nature's works in which the infinity of its Controlling Power is seen it would defy omnipotence itself to make everything the best. Its wisdom and beneficence are better shown, I think, in making everything progressive and capable of going on forever in the way of improvement and of happiness. Pain and sickness are among the means of carrying out this work of progress. Pain is, as the word implies, a punishment. It is derived from the Latin word pœna, a penalty, and its object is in natural as it should be in social law, reformation. When this is no longer possible death kindly comes to put an end to suffering that can no longer be of use.

Sickness, then, I consider to be irregularity of function, from errors committed either by the individual or his ancestors, for the "sins of the fathers are visited upon the children to the third and fourth generation." From the well known school maxim, sublata causa tollitur effectus, the first indication in the way of remedy is a return to proper habits of life. Hereditary diseases, as well as those brought on by the individual himself, may often be removed by a reformation in these particulars; but if they are persevered in the evils continue to increase till they become incompatible with the longer duration of life. This is especially shown in all the diseases of intemperance, or those brought on by over indulgence of the appetites. In any way whatever, I hold that there is no such thing in the career and life of man as gratuitous and necessary evil. All pain and sickness, I hold, might be avoided by the exercise of possible sagacity and vigilance. The object of intent and meaning in the existence of what is called evil is to educate our faculties, teach what is right and proper to be done and aid in the grand scheme of evolution and progress.

"Trail contaminate in mind or frame,
Fallen from right, degenerate, perverse,
The world is full of poisons, scourges, snares,
To them the bounties of the universe
Are dealt by an avenging Nemesis,
Who on the heads of guilty mortals pours
The dreadful vengeance of the angry gods,
And turns their gifts to dust and bitterness."

We have now spoken, in a cursory and general manner, as is of course necessary in an address of this kind, of the causes of life and its phenomena, in health and in sickness; it now remains for us to speak, also in general terms and hastily, on death, and I shall conclude.

However paradoxical it may appear, death in reality is a cause of life, without which it cannot come into existence. In the midst of life we are in death. As the phenomena of life are the result of the physiological decomposition of the material body, by which the forces used in its construction are again set free and manifest themselves in the various functions, so is death nothing but the cessation of function owing to the non-restoration of those parts of the body whose decomposition had already given out their contained forces in a mode of action to which we apply the term vital. Whether life could have ever come into existence without any preceding form of life is a question. We know of no law by which it could; and the doctrine of spontaneous generation is repudiated by most leading men of science.

The idea that life is a result of the death and decomposition of the bodily tissues seems to have been a familiar one with the ancients; for we find it frequently used by the founders of Christianity to illustrate their new teachings concerning the resurrection of the body. Thus, in the the 12th chapter of St. John, and 24th verse, Christ says: "Except a corn of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone; but if it die it bringeth forth much fruit." And in the 15th chapter of 1st Corinthians, 36th verse, St. Paul says: "That which thou sowest is not quickened except it die; and that thou sowest not that body that shall be, but the bare grain, so also is the resurrection of the dead."

"In life we are in death; the vital flame
Is fed by the decay of every part;
By life again is every part restored,
And life and death in mutual duties join.
In death no more is restoration made;
The interchange of earthly elements
Then ends, and all are rendered back to earth,
The common mother of all living things;
But soon the atoms wake to life again.
With solar force infused, stirred by the germ
That serves to start the train of vital change;
And thus they run the gauntlet of all life,
Till countless millions may, if any can,
Claim the reversion as the heirs-at-law."

By the law of mortality all things formed by a combination of elements must sooner or later die and come to an end, and only the simple elements and forces that act on them can endure forever. Shakespeare has said—

"Life's but a walking shadow! a poor player
That struts and frets his hour upon the stage,
And then is heard no more."

"Yes, Life is but an actor on the stage,
And Death but his attendant, who takes off
His borrowed robes whenever he quits the scene
Why should we tremble at the needful part
Death really plays in the affairs of life?
What though no form attractive he assumes
To charm the superficial eye of youth,
Unthinking, prone to gayety and joy?
For Death's dominion Heaven means not them;
If they become his prey, the blame is theirs.
For this and the innumerable ills
It pleases Providence to test us with,
The tree of knowledge offers to mankind
The antidotes, that rightly understood
And used, might almost place us with the gods
Above the evils of mortality,
And take all venom from the shaft of Death.
Alone the king of terrors he becomes,
When armed as an avenger he appears,
And grimly stalks beyond his proper bounds
To vindicate the laws of God and man;
He else is naught but Nature's chamberlain,
Stern and unwelcome though he be to those
Unready for his call; yet, ah, how sweet
To spent mortality that longs for rest,
And those who are aweary of the world
From suffering, age and devastating woes,
That joy, discard, and hope, that lingers last;
Like sleep, a comforter for every ill,
Death then becomes, and Nature's crowning boon."

And what thereafter? Were I to talk to you for an age I could tell you no more on this head than is contained in the words of "the preacher:" "Then shall the body return to the dust as it was, and the spirit shall return to God that gave it."

Sectional Strife and the Census.

[New York Sun, Dem.]

It is at least comforting to know that, after the next presidential contest, there will be and can be no solid south, as opposed to a solid north. The politics of the country must be changed by natural laws, and thereafter the country will divide in opinion as to the best mode of promoting the material interests connected with national growth and development. The census of 1880 will eliminate sectional strife from the struggles for future ascendency.

Hendricks.

[Indianapolis Journal, Rep.]

Mr. Hendricks connection with the vice presidency was only "a futile dalliance;" and his connection with the presidency will probably prove, in the classic language of William Allen, "a d—d barren ideality."

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

MONDAY EVENING, December 8, 1879.

The market for wheat yesterday shows an improvement over last week, although $2 is the outside figure for good round lots. Some sales of small lots were made at $1 97½. There has been a marked advance in New York and Chicago—from 5 to 7 cents per bushel, but no response to such an advance is felt at Liverpool. The market there, however, is firm with an upward tendency. Conservative dealers are not anxious to pay $2, except for large lots, not knowing whether the recent rise in eastern markets is due to a bulling movement or to legitimate demands. Unless there is a decline within the next few days, holders may confidently expect $2, but no more. Even if there should be another slight advance in Liverpool it would be taken up by increased freights. There are only a few vessels in port, and no more than eight, mostly of small capacity, due. The warehouses are full, and never at any time last winter was there as much wheat in store as now. The arrivals will aggregate nearly 1000 tons per day, and the amount stored along the Columbia and upper Willamette is unprecedented.

Capt. L. L. Williams has returned to Douglas county after an extended visit to the National Park.

Oakland schools, which were closed on account of the diphtheria some time ago, have again resumed labors.

We are reliably informed that some thief stole one of William Dearborn's horses from his barn, a few miles south of Oakland. The thief has not been caught.

Last month's transactions in the Roseburg land office are as follows: Eight hundred and thirty-one acres sold for cash; 15 homestead entries, embracing 2240 acres; 4 final homestead entries, embracing 557 acres; 23 preemption filings; 3 timber land entries; 8 location certificates issued.

Judge J. F. Watson is certainly entitled to the championship. Last Monday he left his home in Roseburg, traveled a distance of seventy-five miles, held a term of court, convicted and sentenced a man for forgery, and returned home the same day. Where can a better record be found? asks the Plaindealer.

The Bonanza Quicksilver Mining Co., at their annual meeting held at Oakland, Douglas county, on November 25th, elected the following officers for the ensuing year: R. M. Kelly, president; R Doty, superintendent; Wm. Lough, foreman at the mines; J. H. Day, secretary; Wm. Lough, treasurer. The company have made arrangements for having a furnace built in the spring, for which quicksilver will be paid. The furnace will cost $15,000.

DR. PAUL M. SHEHAN

The Most Successful Physician on the Pacific Coast.

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. SHEHAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the

such as SPERMATORRHEA, or SEMINAL WEAKNESS, or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY. Nearly two thirds of all the chronic diseases spring, either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the profession.

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty, and sometimes from ignorance, and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence.

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all Diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail.

Consultation free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

KING OF THE BLOOD

THE MOST THOROUGH PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD YET DISCOVERED.

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.

It gives vivacity in place of lassitude; cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility.

Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Disordered Liver, Constipation, Nervous Affections, General Debility, in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD.

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION, as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health, and vanquishes the foes that lurk in the blood.

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS,
It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages, It has frequently cured it when advanced.
It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife,
It cures DROPSY, general or partial,
It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.
It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal.
It eradicates the effects of Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution.

Many certificates, much further information and full directions for using, will be found in the pamphlet, "Treatise on Diseases of the Blood," in which each bottle is enclosed.

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 50 to 100 doses. Sold by Dealers in medicine.
